Kenneth (Buddy) Bailey Jr. recently lost both of his legs under a freight train. Over 200 turned out for the pulpwood bee which produced over 100 cords of pulpwood. The pulpwood was sold to the Manistique Pulp and Paper Company and the Kimberly Clark Corporation. The Escanaba Paper Company contributed $300 to the Buddy Bailey Fund. Buddy and his nurse are pictured here in a Sault Ste. Marie hospital.

Detroit Listed As No. 2 Target In Atom Attack

DETROIT — (P) — A former commanding general of the Far East Air Forces asserted here last night that Detroit would be the No. 2 target for any enemy atomic bomb attack. It would be second to New York City, he said.

The assertion was made by General George C. Kenney, retired, speaking before the Society of Automotive Engineers at a dinner closing their annual passenger car, body and materials meeting.

Can't Go On

Gen. Kenney termed the Korean conflict a "colossal thing, whether you call it a hot or cold war or a police action."

He said he did not believe there was any way to settle the Korean conflict around the table. "Signing a piece of paper," he said, "means nothing to the other fellow."

"If we take our troops out of there we're going to turn the country over to the enemy."

The Korean affair, he said, "can't go on forever without some kind of an explosion." He pictured Korean hostilities as one of a series of bonfires around the "iron curtain," adding that these fires could not be extinguished" until we are strong enough to tell the enemy that this thing must stop—and be able to back up our words."

Revolution One Hope

"Joe Stalin," General Kenney went on, "is trying now to get us to spend ourselves into ruin." A political revolution, he said, might be "one solution of the situation; Stalin might have such a revolution but we're not counting on it."

The nation that wins a war now, General Kenney said, must have No. 1 air power. "We don't have that power now," he added, "and I'm not so sure we can have it until we're prepared to give up a lot more than we have so far."

Drivers License $2

The reapportionment measure would increase the Senate from 32 to 34 members and give Washtenaw and Macomb counties the extra Senators.

The House would be enlarged from 100 to 110 and the membership would be apportioned on the basis of population. If the legislature failed to reapportion, the job would be done by the state board of canvassers.

Rep. Richard L. Thomson (R-Highland Park) sponsored unsuccessful attempts to increase the Senate to 37 and give the three additional senators to Wayne county and to strike a provision that no county could have more than 30 per cent of the membership of the House.

A bill to raise the fee for drivers licenses from $1.25 to $2 was advanced in the House for a final vote, probably next week.

Republican legislators last week threatened to refuse to produce the extra money, but the policy is in the process of modification.

Reds In UAW Next
Target In Detroit
Un-American Inquiry

DETROIT — (P) — The extent of Communist influence in the CIO United Auto Workers giant Ford Local 600 will be the next target of the House Un-American Activities Committee in Detroit.

Rep. Potter, Cheboygan Republican, indicated today that when the group's hearings resume here Monday it will look into the possible left-wing affiliations of Detroit school teachers.

"I don't know how extensive the investigation has been, but we will probably take up the teacher question early in the week," he said.

Arthur Dondineau, superintendent of schools, said he believed "there is nothing concrete against more than one or two teachers."

The attorney, one-time general counsel for the Democratic National Committee, was struck in the left thigh by one of three shots fired by his assailant, who escaped in a car with another man.

The car, reported stolen, later was found abandoned four blocks north on Park Avenue.

Rosenblatt, 51, a key figure in the currently contested will left by Mrs. Eleanor Morgan Satterlee, kin of the late J. P. Morgan's granddaughter, fortune, was wounded last night by a mystery gunman as he entered his Park Avenue home.

The attorney, one-time general counsel for the Democratic National Committee, was struck in the left thigh by one of three shots fired by his assailant, who escaped in a car with another man.

"I looked through my window and saw the couple enter their room. There was a brief period of love making. Then, suddenly, the man looped a belt around her neck and began dragging her around the floor.

"He kept pulling the belt tighter, then started going through her handbag and clothes, hauling the body around as he did so. When he needed both hands he would take the belt in his teeth, still holding it taut."

Jones said that for a time he was dazed and unbelieving, then telephoned the clerk, who notified police. Officers said the man still held the belt in his hands when they broke into the room.

"I wish I had something to tell you, but I don't know anything."

His wound was described as not serious. A policeman was assigned to guard him at New York Hospital.

Rosenblatt, besides handling the legal affairs of numerous society figures, is impartial chairman of the New York cloak and suit industry, often a storm center in labor relations.

He served as an administrator of the National Recovery Administration under the late President Roosevelt.

Little State Capitol

LANSING — (P) — A legislative study committee today renewed recommendations that the state build a "little capitol" at Escanaba to serve the Upper Peninsula.

The committee endorsed a plan to build on a site promised by the city of Escanaba. The late Mrs. Catherine Boni-fas of Escanaba bequeathed $100,000 for a state office building in that community.

The committee reported it had determined the state is renting $11,472 worth of scattered space in Escanaba for state agencies. It said state operations in the area would be cheaper and more efficient if centralized in one location.

The committee was composed of Senators Harry F. Hit-

Press Installs New Engraving Process

News pictures reproduced for newspaper use by a photo-electric process of engraving are now being published by the Escanaba Daily Press.

The Press has installed a Fairchild Scan-a-Graver, manufactured by the Fairchild Camera and Instrument company of Jamaica, N. Y. Installation of the equipment was completed yesterday by Dale Parfitt, company representative, of Oshkosh, Wisconsin, and the first pictures were published in yesterday's issue of the Press. Additional pictures are included in today's issue.

This equipment is the most modern engraving equipment manufactured today. The process is entirely automatic and eliminates completely the use of chemicals and metal in news picture engraving.

Fairchild engravings are produced on thin plastic plates. The Escanaba Press Fairchild equipment produces 85-line screen halftones which makes possible much sharper definition and greater clarity in the reproduced picture. The plastic plates are not stereotyped, as in the conventional metal engraving process, but are attached directly to the cylindrical page form on the high speed printing press. This system makes possible the use of engravings of finer screen and permits sharper reproduction.

The electronic engraving process also is much faster than the conventional engraving system. Engravings produced on the Fairchild photo-electric engraving machine are etched by a heated stylus at the rate of six minutes per column width. This speed will make possible the publication of more timely pictures and it also will materially increase the number of pictures for publication in the Press.

The installation of the Fairchild photo-engraving machine also will widen the scope of local pictures for advertising purposes.

To accommodate the new equipment and to modernize and improve the news photography department, the Escanaba Press has completely rebuilt its photography department. The photography room has been moved to a location adjacent to and connected with the news room. A new dark room has been installed and modern dark room equipment added.

Russell L. Johnson Attends Water Tests

Russell L. Johnson, engineer in charge of the Upper Peninsula branch of the state Department of Health in Escanaba, recently participated in the testing of the new Wakefield, Mich. water supply. He was among several engineers and a State Department hydrogeologist who witnessed the first pumpings of water from the new well.

As far as is known, old Doc's smile has left him only once. That was when the people of Inverness and thereabouts presented him with the fund. He broke down and cried.

But he didn't cry this time. He was happy, knowing he was going to be among the folks who live in big plantation homes and broken down tenant cabins, the neighbors who came to his aid when needed most.

Fund Kept Secret

The money for the gray-haired doctor with twinkling blue eyes was collected in a campaign that found solicitors knocking on big mansions of the white folks and rickety shacks of sharecroppers. It was kept a secret until the day he arrived here for treatment.

"Best people in the world down there, both black and white," old Doc said, with a lump in his throat.

Many was the time old Doc made his round to minister to the sick and got a fee of only a spoken "thank you" or a slab of bacon, or a sack of corn.

He never claimed credit for the services he gave. He merely referred to a quotation attributed to a French doctor which says:

"I bandaged him, God healed him."

Man Injured In Pit Landslide

Leo Bowersox, 39, of Nadeau was reported in "poor" condition this morning in St. Francis Hospital with compound fractures of both legs received in an occupational accident yesterday caused by a landslide in a gravel pit.

Bowersox, Diesel power shovel operator for C. G. Bridges contracting company, was reportedly repairing the shovel dipper in a gravel pit near Perronville when a bank cave-in wedged him between the machine and the fallen earth.

He was taken to the hospital yesterday afternoon where his leg injuries were diagnosed.

The accident occurred at 2:40 p.m. three miles west of Perronville.

Bowersox lives in Nadeau with his wife and four children.

THOSE IN UNIFORM

M/Sgt. Robert E. Meadow who served one year in Korea now is stationed at Camp McCoy, Wis., and Pvt. James Meadow is at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. Both are sons of Mr. and Mrs. John Meadow of Coopers.

Roy J. Morrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Morrison of Gould City, Mich., is now undergoing training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego, Calif.

Morrison was inducted in the Marine Corps at Milwaukee, Wis., recently.

During the eight-week "Boot Camp," as recruit training is commonly called, Private Morrison will become well versed in such basic military subjects as precision drill, first aid, Marine Corps history and mission and field tactics.

The Martens were vacationing in Florida when the Janssens arrived but they hurried to Detroit to meet them and then brought them to Rapid River.

RAPID RIVER — That each meal in the United States "seems like a feast" is the opinion of Mr. and Mrs. August Janssens and their son, Gaston, 17, immigrants from Belgium and recent arrivals to make their home here.

After long waiting under the U. S. immigration quota, the Janssens were finally cleared for their trip and left Brussels to arrive in New York City on Feb. 6. There they were met by Mrs. Janssens' brother, Arthur Praet, who resides in Detroit.

There was another reunion for Mrs. Janssens in Rapid River, where she saw her sister, Mrs. Alex Martens, for the first time in 25 years. The Martens are sponsoring the Janssens.

In Brussels, Janssens worked for the government in the railway department, earning the equivalent of $80 a month—over one-half of which went for rent and electricity.

To make ends meet in Belgium it was necessary for all three members of the family to work, and they still had only the bare necessities, they reported. Money was scarce and prices were high. A pair of blue jeans cost $6 in U. S. money.

But America! Mrs. Janssens blue eyes sparkled even more brightly when she thought of the meals. In Brussels she could seldom buy more than one egg at a

Council Avois Seaway Debate

The controversial St. Lawrence seaway proposal, previously discussed by the Escanaba city council and tabled until next meeting, last night received the council's cold shoulder as a topic for debate.

Minutes of the previous meeting show the council tabled the matter until next meeting with the expressed hope that Escanaba organizations would meanwhile express their opinions on the subject.

Last night the seaway project was not on the agenda and did not come before the council for discussion.

Called "Oversight"

James Doran of Escanaba, who engaged Mayor Guy Knutson in discussion after the meeting was adjourned, asked why the seaway project had not been brought up. Doran said he was there at the request of local industrial unions and private citizens who favor construction of the seaway.

Mayor Knutson said the failure to bring the seaway project up for discussion was an "oversight." He denied the council in unofficial session had agreed to ignore the matter.

The mayor instructed the city clerk to enter on the minutes the appearance of Doran and Doran's favorable statement for the seaway.

The council was not called back into session to hear Doran and an exchange of argument for and against the seaway between Doran and the mayor continued after other councilmen left the chambers.

Council Was Divided

In the previous session when council had discussed the proposed seaway project there was sharp division of opinion on the seaway's value to the port of Escanaba. The discussion followed a proposal that the City of Escanaba endorse the project by resolution.

Some councilmen favored the seaway project and pointed to the fact the city has for many years contributed to an association favoring seaway development.

Opposition was voiced by Councilmen Knutson and Ed Cox, who said they fear the seaway may harm Escanaba as an iron ore shipping port.

The U. S. Congress is now debating the proposed seaway. Congressional decision is expected before the Escanaba city council meets again in regular session March 20.

Rock

Rock PTA Card Party

ROCK—The Rock PTA is entertaining at a card party Thursday, March 13, at 8 p. m. at the Rock High School gymnasium. A nominal fee will be charged. Members on the committee in charge are Mrs. Claire Horgan, president, Mrs. Albert Weldum, Mrs. John Berg, Mrs. Clarence Larson and Mrs. Richard Campbell.

All PTA members will either sponsor card tables or donate to a bake sale which will also take place the same evening. Other games will be played by all those not participating in the card games. In addition a few musical numbers will be offered as entertainment.

Proceeds of this card party will go toward furthering all projects sponsored by the PTA.

Escanaba Airport Joins List Of Lighted Fields

Powerful Beacon

Included in the installation is a powerful beacon, lights marking the runway boundaries, and lights at the south end of the field marking obstructions.

Escanaba's airport is the latest to join the lighted class, assuring 24-hour service for commercial airlines and private planes. In the Upper Peninsula Menominee field already is lighted, Marquette is to be lighted soon.

Airport Manager Fred Sensiba said Mayor Guy Knutson will be asked to officiate at ceremonies marking the turning on of the lights.

Balls Of Fire Bounce In California Storm

SAN JOSE, Calif. — (AP) — A lightning storm that bounced balls of fire through houses and off bicycles, blew holes in homes and created numerous other freak effects, hit Santa Clara county yesterday.

The weird display struck in San Jose and in Gilroy, 28 miles south, at almost the same time. It was accompanied by a downpour of rain.

Postal carrier Walter Gagar said he was putting a letter in a mail box at San Jose when a lightning bolt hit a power pole, scattering splinters over him. A ball of fire jumped out of the pole and landed on a bicycle parked in the driveway of the home. The bicycle jumped up into the air.

"Then the ball of fire bounced up on top of my umbrella," Gagar continued. "It almost knocked my umbrella out of my hand."

Another bolt struck a ham radio aerial at the San Jose home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Nelson. It travelled down the lead-in wires. Within minutes Nelson's $1,500 ham station (W6FON) was burned ruins.

And Mrs. Nelson's $2,500 stock of orchids, which she raises as a hobby, was only a blackened heap of debris in the severely damaged glass plant house next to the station.

When a meteorite struck the earth at Chubb Crater in northern Canada, ripples in the bed rock, 35 to 50 feet high, were raised as much as two miles from the crater.

Hit Comedy Ends Drama Season

Drama Guild patrons were treated last night to a lively comedy that closed the present series of Lions club-sponsored plays and served as a good notice of things-to-come in next season's drama festival.

The play, "Heaven Can Wait," was a rollicking fantasy which moved its hero through a sequence of hilarious if implausible situations manufactured by the return of his spirit to life to inhabit borrowed bodies of other mortals.

The protagonist, an impatient pugilist contender for the middle-weight crown named Joe Pendleton, finds himself untimely transported to the beyond by an overzealous heavenly messenger. Arriving there, resentful toward his premature deliverance from a happy life he wants to live out, he proclaims that "heaven can wait" and demands of the benevolent Dispatcher, Mr. Jordan, that he be returned to earth to right the injustice committed him.

Hilarious Developments

While caught in the red tape of the after world, his fight manager, he learns, has had his lifeless body cremated, leaving his spirit now without a home to call its own.

By way of restitution, Mr. Jordan agrees to accompany Joe back to life to find a body in which the hero can spend the unexpired portion of his term on earth.

From this point of attack, the fantasy takes Joe first into the human form of an unphilanthropic millionaire murdered by his wife and then into a middleweight champion whose existence Joe decides to claim for the next fifty years.

These proceedings were enacted by a group of trained and experienced actors who played the game for every laugh in Harry Segal's script. Among the best of the performances were those of Arthur Edwards as the kindly and all-knowing Mr. Jordan, and of Robert Spence as Joe.

Skilled Cast

Other Drama Guild actors competently contributing to the mirthful consequences of revivification were Irving Karesh as the eager Messenger who collects the fighter's spirit 50 years before it is due in heaven, Lee Henry as a befuddled Inspector Williams who is trying to locate the body of the murdered tycoon whose identity Joe assumes, Ben Stone as the hilarious fight manager and Elaine Meredith, last seen here in the "Voice of the Turtle," as the heroine.

In accordance with Civil Aeronautics Authority it will be in operation at night from sunset to sunrise.

The beacon light will make six revolutions per minute with the beam elevated 2 degrees above the horizon.

Cost Was Shared

Obstruction lights at the south end of the field mark a line of trees and act as a guide to pilots in keeping above them. Many of the larger trees were removed.

Runway boundary lights will be turned on at sunset and left on all during the night, the airport manager reported.

The light installations were financed under a program in which the cost was shared by local, state and federal funds. The cost of operation will be an obligation of the city.

Lighting the field brings it up to CAA requirements for 24-hour use by commercial airlines. In the past occasional airline stops at Escanaba had to be cancelled because flights were delayed to evening and the field was not lighted.

Electronic Engraver Helps Us To Produce Better Newspaper

READERS of the Escanaba Daily Press will note the sharpness and improved clarity of local pictures now being published in this newspaper. This is the result of the installation this week of the Fairchild Scan-a-graver, a photo-electric machine for producing newspaper engravings.

This new service to Daily Press subscribers marks another step forward in the improvement of the newspaper. It not only means pictures of sharper detail and greater clarity but it also means more timely pictures in the Press. Pictures of events happening today can be published today.

The sharper detail made possible by the Fairchild engravings is the result of several factors. The photo-electric process reduces the margin of error in the engraving process. It eliminates the use of chemicals in making half tones and it produces engravings on plastic material instead of zinc. Since this plastic material can be bent, the halftone plate can be mounted directly on cylindrical page casts. Thus, it is possible to use a fine screen. The Fairchild engravings now being used in the Press are 85-line screen, compared with 60-line screen engravings formerly used.

Naturally these better engravings are not inexpensive. Our cost for maintaining our photography-engraving department will be increased as a result of this development. However, we believe the greater cost will be compensated for by the improvement in the result, by the use of more and better pictures and particularly by the knowledge that we are producing a better newspaper for our readers.

GOOD LUCK!

(Iron Mountain News)

On behalf of all the community, here's greetings and best wishes for success to Ray Mariucci, newly-appointed secretary of the Iron Mountain-Kingsford Chamber of Commerce.

We can think of nothing more to the point, in this connection, than to quote, verbatim, the first Chamber of Commerce news-bulletin to be published since Secretary Mariucci assumed his new duties.

Here it is:

An investment in your Chamber is a dividend for you and your community!

Because . . . every business and every professional man and every working man can put something back into the city which offers him his living, and a good medium for this is through the Chamber of Commerce.

Because . . . the Chamber strives to make the Iron Mountain-Kingsford area a place in which to live and earn a living, a better place in which to bring up your children.

Because . . . the Chamber offers an opportunity to carry your share of the load and thus take a place alongside your neighbor in promoting worthwhile civic activities.

Because . . . the Chamber of Commerce represents our cities to the outside world and serves as a goodwill ambassador on many occasions.

Because . . . the Chamber of Commerce serves as an information center and clearing house where matters of public interest are concerned.

Because . . . the Chamber of Commerce alerts its members on vital subjects which affect the business of our city, our state and our nation.

Because . . . the Chamber of Commerce has assembled and maintains ever growing volumes of information on various vital subjects which are always available to you.

Because . . . dues in the Chamber of Commerce are an investment in community development that pay dividends, and membership in this organization is a badge of good citizenship.

Because . . . a larger and stronger Chamber of Commerce will benefit your community, your business, your family and you!

This is your chamber and your community. They both need your support. Call or write the chamber of commerce for additional information or comments.

Questions and Answers

Q—For what purpose is kenaf fiber used?

A—Kenaf fiber, now grown in Cuba, is new to the Western Hemisphere and is a satisfactory substitute for jute which comes largely from India and Pakistan. It is woven into handsome rugs and carpets, into durable burlaps, cables, twines and cords.

Q—Have many members of the U. S. Senate been expelled?

A—In the 163 years of the senate's history, only 21 members have been expelled. Six others have resigned under fire or have withdrawn their credentials.

Varied Types of Arthritis

Attack Spine at All Ages

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

Several kinds of arthritis of the spine are recognized. The cause of some (tuberculous arthritis, for example) is known, and the cause of others is not.

In some cases an arthritis of the spine may become far advanced before producing any symptoms. In others symptoms appear almost before the condition can be diagnosed by X-ray or other methods.

One form of arthritis of the spine is that which is fairly common in elderly people and in people who are overweight. This is a sort of bone degeneration and is not accompanied by true inflammation.

Frequently this variety of arthritis does not produce any serious symptoms and can merely be considered a sign of advancing years.

When symptoms are produced, however, there is no good method of restoring the spinal joints completely to normal. The treatment must therefore, be aimed at relieving the symptoms of pain and stiffness as far as that is possible.

A back brace can be helpful. The use of a stiff mattress or a board under the mattress is also commonly recommended. Sometimes heat, massage, or other measures of physical therapy bring about considerable relief.

There is one kind of spinal arthritis much more common in young men than in women and not particularly likely to develop in older years. No one knows why this should be the case and it is still debated among medical men as to whether this disease of the spine is a variety of the more common rheumatoid arthritis involving other joints or whether it is purely a spinal disease.

MUCH PAIN AND STIFFNESS

At any rate, this form of spinal arthritis is unpleasant. It causes a good deal of pain and stiffness. Unless properly treated it tends to cause the body to be bent forward and also interferes with proper expansion of the chest.

Eventually, that is after many years, it causes a complete stiffening of the spine—and when this occurs, the pain disappears.

What is the best treatment is still uncertain although some have reported good results with X-ray treatments. A few patients have been treated with cortisone or ACTH with good results—at least at first.

Any person with an arthritis of the spine must have an accurate diagnosis which can only be obtained by careful examination and by X-rays. When this has been done, the most promising line of treatment can be started. But one cannot expect too much at present.

The average man has 66 pounds of muscle and 3.3 pounds of brain, according to a physician. Maybe that explains a lot of things.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Weary United Nations negotiators will make a last, desperate bid this month to end the Korean war in the big parley tent at Panmunjom. But if their pleas fail, General Ridgway is ready to blockade the Chinese coast with battleships and to hit Chinese bases with bombers.

Here are the latest, inside developments that could lead to peace or full-scale war in a matter of weeks:

1. Orders from Washington are to persuade the Communists to sign a half truce—in other words, to nail down in writing the agreements that have already been reached orally. It is hoped this will prevent the Communists from backing down on their word and speed the truce talks.

2. However, the Central Intelligence Agency is convinced the Chinese will try to prolong the Korean stalemate indefinitely. Chinese Communists can continue to draw war goods from Russia to equip their armies and build a powerful air force. But CIA also reports that the Russians are worried about China's growing strength and are secretly urging a truce as an excuse to cut off the equipment.

3. If the truce negotiators cannot come to terms, General Ridgway wants to blockade the Chinese coast and bomb the Chinese mainland. The final decision must come from President Truman, however, who still hopes for a peaceful way out.

4. Inside the Joint Chiefs of Staff, General Vandenberg has warned that we don't have enough planes to waste on conventional bombing of China. He points out that China's principal cities are now protected by squadrons of jet fighters, and argues that we can't risk losing bombers in China—except to deliver the atomic bomb.

The danger is that bombing China might provoke war with Russia.

TRUMAN ON IKE

Harry Truman sounded off to an old Senate friend the other day about General Eisenhower's presidential ambitions.

"I don't know why in the world Ike wants the job," the President mused. "He's much too thin-skinned. Why he gets upset every time a columnist takes a nasty dig at him. You can imagine what would happen if he were sitting in this chair."

The President looked out the window thoughtfully and went on: "If Ike were elected, there would be a short honeymoon. I had one too but you wouldn't think so now. Then everyone would start pouncing on him."

LOFTY INTENTIONS

When a House committee was named to investigate the Justice Department several weeks ago, all hands agreed it would be a model of "non-partisan" efficiency. The probe was to be conducted on a strictly "judicial" basis, with no politics by either side. However, these lofty intentions apparently have fallen by the wayside.

So far committee Democrats and Republicans have spent most of their time wrangling over the procedure the probe should follow, instead of getting down to business and giving the public the full facts about corruption in the Justice Department.

Republicans have been hotly critical of Chairman Frank Chelf of Kentucky because of the delay in naming a committee counsel and staff to direct the probe. On the other hand, Democrats have insinuated that the Republicans are more interested in playing politics, with an eye on the November elections, than in a speedy hearing to develop all the facts.

HONG KONG—(NEA)—The jittery British crown colony, last corner of freedom on the Chinese mainland, is a small body of land completely surrounded by water and Communists.

Hearing the stories of many people who have escaped through the bamboo curtain from Communist China, one is struck with one point. That is how gradually, little by little, men of high principle and integrity can become enmeshed in the Communist net.

In taking control of China, the Communists have been "clever" enough to persuade good people first to make small decisions, which in themselves seem either good or unimportant.

On every side in Hong Kong one sees and senses the makings of violence—the clash of political beliefs, distrust, tension, intrigue.

The port city's two and a quarter million population, widely mixed politically and racially, is jammed into a 391-square-mile area, with Communist China on one side and the Pacific Ocean on the other.

Northeastward, 1200 miles as the jet flies, lie Korea and Japan. Nationalist China's island stronghold of Formosa is 400 miles due east.

The city teems with Communists and their sympathizers on one hand. On the other hand are the most violent of anti-Communists—refugees who have lived under communism's terrors, and escaped.

There are bankers doing steady business with the Communists, despite recent orders barring trade in strategic materials with the Reds.

Typical of Hong Kong's confusion today is a scene on the airport at Kowloon (part of the city). Near the road are 75 airplanes of Gen. Clair Chennault's China Air Transport.

Twice British courts have awarded them to the Chinese Reds. She is fighting her way at this moment and winning the battle.—Rep. Usher Burdick (D., N. D.)

Both sides have been free to score, but they have not put the score on the scoreboard. Now even a single will be counted.—Brig. Gen. William Nuckols on the ending of the 30 day trial truce in Korea.

Riot-Torn Hong Kong Seethes With Distrust And Intrigue

EDITOR'S NOTE: Communist-inspired riots recently shook Hong Kong, injuring many people including two Americans. From a wide background in the Orient, U. S. reporter Geraldine Fitch gives a vivid picture of the explosive situation which produced the riots and could cause many others.

many of the big bankers are still doing business with the Communists. It explains the case of one particular Chinese banker. He has seen his way clear to manage a Communist-controlled bank, though he is not a Communist himself.

city of Canton he was not afraid, because they had promised freedom of religion as well as freedom to reject religion.

As chairman of the Presbyterian synod, he could not be too outspoken because his actions involved those under him. So it seemed wiser not to take issue on small matters. Then, too, the Communist procedure was gradual.

Churches were called on by the Communist city government to help in relief work and of their civic projects which seemed harmless enough. But soon the minister found himself involved in a working relationship with the Communist city government.

His life now is a nightmare. Recently he saw 198 Cantonese citizens executed in one day, 40 from his own neighborhood.

There is the case of Mrs. Man-Yu Wang. Her name can be used because she escaped from Red China and through the barbed wire into Hong Kong. She left no one behind. Her husband was executed.

The Wangs (he was a merchant) thought the Chinese Communists stood for a "new democracy" of land reform and that they would establish a Titoist regime in the Far East.

At first Wang was treated as a "derivative personage." He was allotted a certain number of Victory Bonds, but became uneasy when told he had to buy them. They cost $90,000, Hong Kong money.

This was followed by other heavy "voluntary" contributions. He finally had to give up his home to raise the money. Finally his business was confiscated.

Then he made his big mistake. He wrote his former American partner about the possibility of getting himself and his family into the United States.

The Communists intercepted the letter of reply and made a photostatic copy of it. Asked whether he had received a letter from America, Wang denied it for safety's sake. Then the Communists produced the photostat.

"You democratic personages," the interrogator said, "this is the kind of service you have rendered!" Wang was executed without being allowed to employ defense counsel.

Washington, Pa.—"In a business letter is it ever proper to say, 'I shall be tickled to receive the book you mentioned'?"—Mrs. J. A. V.

Answer—Not in a business letter. "Pleased" is the word to use. But in familiar correspondence, "tickled" could be used in the same sense.

Buffalo, N. Y.—"How may one correctly write the following: 'There are three (two's, too's, to's) in the English language'?"—L. B. A.

Answer—The sentence must be recast in some such form as, "These three English words have the same pronunciation—to, two, too."

Friendship Has A New Meaning

By ROBERT C. RUARK
NEW YORK—The sacred word, "friendship," like many another old value, has been twisted and turned and abused by the times until it has lost a deal of the meaning that once sanctified it as the noblest relationship between men.

Friends were what you laid down your life for; gave the shirt off your back for. Friendship surpassed the love of man for woman, and endured after blood ties were severed. Friendship has been corrupted into what amounts now to an almost-dirty word, a synonym for devious dealing and crooked pressure.

Blair Bolles' new book on corruption in government, called "How To Get Rich In Washington," stresses the fact that the messy stew of favors that lent such a ripe, rich odor to the Truman reign was product not so much of open bribery as what Washington called "friendship."

A Shipping Commodity
Friendship is a variety of things in Washington. It can be bought by suave favors, the gifts and trips and social drinkings. It can be smoothly blackmailed by past association or tomorrow's prospects. It is bartered by telephone and the swift chit, the hasty introduction and the difficult connection. Friendship has turned into a slippery commodity which, when brought to light, always seems surrounded by scandal and incompetence. The flower of friendship, 1952, style, has been the fix, the deal, the illicit monkeyshines, the sinister attachment.

The switch on friendship in Washington has been that the friends have covered for one another, and attempted to make one another rich and secure off what was not theirs to bestow—government loans, clearances, subsidies, tax adjustments. The onus is no more on the giver than the receiver. It merely rests on friendship.

Government by erony has been the especial premise of the Truman operation, with Harry himself at the fountainhead of the perversion. Harry was declaredly the old-school politico who never forgot a friend, never forgave a personal enemy for the common good. Cleaving to those lines he rarely fired a malefactor, even when they crossed him and shed a stench on his administration.

He gave influential jobs blindly and with small regard for consequence, as the widespread tax scandals showed. He surrounded himself with second-raters out of old loyalties. He bull-headed refused to fire the targets of mass criticism, not because they were unjustly accused, but because "no BOB is going to tell me what to do."

HST Gives Our All

The friends of Harry's friends pounced like bloody-beaked vultures on the rich pickings of a postwar government, and literally tore out the viscera of honest government with their dripping talons. To date the chief of staff has refused to drive them off the carcass with a stick. The best rebuke he has been able to muster is a mild "shoo!"

Out of friendship Harry Truman has succeeded in making a near joke out of the executive office—surrounded, as he is, by a friendly fool here, a friendly drunk there, a friendly manipulator yonder. His own cheap feuds and cheaper gibes, largely in behalf of or defense of his friends, have stripped him of any mantle of statesmanship and left him what he is—a small man in a sharpie's suit. Harry was freely given our all for his friends, and his friends' friends. And they have taken it.

One of the sharpest commentaries on friendship we have heard from the Truman house party was the attitude of the secretary of state, Dean Acheson, toward Alger Hiss, a traitor and abuser of high governmental placement for seditions end. Acheson at one point valued friendship over the welfare of his country when he refused "to turn my back on Alger Hiss," a flat statement of disbelieve in a proven guilt.

Friendship is fine when nobly executed, but there comes a time when honesty and decency demands the rejection of friendships which imperil a nation's well-being and the general health and happiness of its peoples. From

Trade Unions Target Of Commies In Italy

(Editor's note: Italy is a key point in the Kremlin's efforts to fashion a fifth-column noose around Western Europe. How the Communists are moving there, using trade unions wherever they can, is described here by William L. Ryan, Russian-speaking analyst of the Associated Press foreign staff. On a tour of Europe, Ryan gave the overall picture in two dispatches from Vienna, printed earlier this week. Today he shows how the transmission belt reaches into an individual country.)

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

ROME—(AP)—The Communists evidently are organizing furiously in Italy to build their Trojan horse. Moscow's 1952 version of the storied steed that broke the defense of ancient Troy.

The chain of command from Cominform through the World Federation of Trade Unions (WFTU) and into Italian labor is easily discernible.

Italian non-Communist political leaders profess to discount its importance. But the foreigners in Rome do not. In fact, they are watching the situation most carefully.

The Communists, in control of the biggest labor federation, the general confederation of Italian labor (CGIL), have imposed a high level, hard core command over the unions, and the command is organized down to the factory level.

Giuseppe Di Vittorio, a Moscow-trained Communist who shuttles back and forth to Vienna to WFTU headquarters, has installed in each factory what he calls a "peace committee." This committee is the cell through which the Communists will exercise their control when and if the chips are down. Di Vittorio imposed these committees against the will of many in the unions themselves, and the order which created the committees some time ago had the tone of a military command.

Ready For Crisis

Foreign observers in Rome have little doubt these committees are the "action committees" of the future, ready to react swiftly in the event of crisis. The label "peace committee" clearly shows the influence of the Cominform and the WFTU.

The CGIL is one of three major labor organizations in Italy, and by far the strongest. It claims more than five million members, although a more accurate figure probably would be 3 1/2 million. The non-Communist unions are represented by the confederation of Italian trade unions, claiming more than two million members but probably having only 1,400,000 and the UIL, the United Italian Labor, with 400,000 members, mostly socialists.

Italian government leaders are certain a large percentage of Italy's Communists are Communists of opportunity only, and a big part of the membership of the CGIL would be unreliable for the Communists in the event of a showdown.

But the Communists already have shown they can paralyze Italy with this organization. They did so in 1948, after the attempt on the life of Communist boss Palmiro Togliatti. Shrewd Di Vittorio, knowing his Italians, kept the general strike going only so long as he knew it would be supported. When Italian workers began to get restive, he called it off, rather than risk a demonstration that the Red control was not complete.

Hands Off
The CGIL has not been interfering with the unloading of military supplies in Italy from the United States, ever since the Communist attempts to do so in Naples failed. They are up against the hard fact that Italians need jobs and will frequently throw politics overboard in favor of bread. But the Communists are organizing carefully, down to the level of the lowest worker.

One instance of the careful organizations is in the machinery set up by the CGIL to grant loans without interest to workers in desperate need of money, a gesture the Italian worker understands. Di Vittorio is a clever psychologist and knows his people well.

There is some indication that Di Vittorio sometimes chafes under the Cominform's discipline, and possibly his position would not be so secure if the Communist party itself had more actual strength. While the party has two million members, the hard core probably is in the area of 100,000 trusted, hard-bitten Stalinists.

The Italian Communist command includes strongmen Palmiro Togliatti, Pietro Secchia, Renato Biassi and Luigi Longo.

Togliatti Boss
All are Moscow brand Communists. Togliatti, 59, a veteran of Fascist jails, is a scholar, an extremely well educated man who knows how to use words with telling effect. While he still seems to be the boss and to enjoy the favor of Moscow, a large body of opinion in Rome, both foreign and local, is that he would be displaced in a time of crisis.

The man who might take over is Secchia, 49, a tough, Moscow-trained Communist who is a member of the Italian senate. Secchia, a huge man, once used the Nomen de guerre of "Botte," which means "Blows," but also means "barrels." He did a five-year hitch in jail for organizing labor in Turin during the Fascist regime.

The other top Italian Communist is shrewd Luigi Longo, 52, also a veteran of Fascist prisons for his activities among labor ranks during Fascism. He is considered a powerful behind-the-scenes string puller.

So does everybody else.

And just as you read the newspaper every day, so does everybody else. Because there's something for everybody every day.

Why do advertisers invest more of their money in newspapers than in any other form of advertising?

Simply because everybody reads the paper, for its advertising as well as for fun or news.

So, why advertise only fractions of the people who can buy?

Radio and TV programs reach only fractions of anybody's market — sport fans, homeowners, kids, or whatever. And even they can't all listen at the time a commercial is broadcast.

Magazines reach only fractions of a market. For each one appeals to some people — not to others.

The Newspaper talks to everybody in town. It's created fresh every day to appeal to everybody.

Only the newspaper is first with the most news... first with the most people... first with the most advertisers!

The newspaper is always "first with the most"

Therese Grondine, Spalding, Bride, Wed At Ishpeming

Miss Therese Ann Grondine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Grondine, Sr., of Spalding and Glenn C. Veale of Negaunee were married in a February ceremony at St. John's church, Ishpeming. The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Veale, Negaunee.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white lace over white satin with a nylon yoke trimmed with seed pearls and a long train. Her fingertip veil trimmed with lace was held by a crown of pearl flowers. She carried a shower bouquet of red roses with a center of gardenias.

Miss Marie Veale, sister of the bridegroom, as maid of honor, wore orchid net over taffeta and a headress of fresh flowers matching her colonial bouquet of yellow roses and gardenias. Miss Marilyn Beaudoin of Coleman, Wis., who was bridesmaid, wore yellow net over taffeta and carried a contrasting bouquet.

Henry Grondine was best man and Joseph Grondine, groomsman, Ushers were Wilfred Grondine, Jr., and Ernest LaFave.

Mrs. Grondine attended her daughter's wedding in a teal blue crepe dress with which she wore black accessories and a corsage of yellow flowers. The bridegroom's mother wore plum shade and a like corsage.

For the wedding dinner served at the bridegroom's home the table was covered with a white linen cloth which the bride's mother had received as a gift on her wedding day. The reception was held at the Knights of Columbus hall in Ishpeming. The three-tiered wedding cake was trimmed with red roses and bridal miniatures. Miss Marge Smith was in charge of gifts and Mrs. Edward Roose and Miss Irene Moroski poured at the reception table.

For her wedding trip the bride wore a gold nylon ensemble with brown accessories.

The couple will live in Ishpeming. The new Mrs. Veale is a graduate of Powers-Spalding high school and is a practical nurse on the staff of Ishpeming hospital. Her husband, a graduate of Negaunee high school, is employed in Ishpeming.

Almond Apricot Cream Pie

Ingredients:  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup sugar,  $\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, 2 tablespoons flour,  $\frac{3}{4}$  cups milk, 2 eggs (separated), 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, 1 teaspoon vanilla, few drops almond flavoring,  $\frac{1}{3}$  cup chopped sweetened cooked dried apricots,  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup chopped roasted unblanched almonds, baked 9-inch pastry shell,  $\frac{1}{4}$  cup sugar.

Method: Mix  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup sugar, salt, cornstarch, and flour together thoroughly in top part of double boiler. In another saucepan scald milk and stir slowly into dry ingredients. Cook over boiling water until thickened, stirring constantly. Beat egg yolks and stir cooked mixture into them. Return to top part of double boiler and cook over hot water 2 to 3 minutes longer, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and stir in butter, vanilla and almond flavoring, apricots and almonds, reserving a few almonds for top of pie. Pour into baked pastry shell. Beat egg whites until stiff. Add  $\frac{1}{4}$  cup sugar gradually, beating well after each addition. Spread over pie and sprinkle with remaining almonds. Bake in hot (400F.) oven about 8 minutes or until lightly browned. Cool. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Help Alcoholic Husband Curb His Drinking Urge

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, Ph.D.

(Q) "My husband is a hard-working, good man. He loves his four children and me very dearly. The only fault he has is to go out about once a month and drink until he can't stand up. It is hard to convince him not to drive the car and he already has a charge against him for drunken driving. Another charge against him would mean the loss of his job and the breaking up of our home. He keeps doing this in spite of the promises he makes. What can I do to help him?"

(A) Your husband's promises are worthless when he has the urge to drink. Don't ask him to make such promises again. It makes him feel inadequate and ashamed when he breaks his promises to you.

Instead, ask him to tell you when he feels the urge to drink coming on him. He knows the symptoms from past experiences and can readily identify them. Then when he warns you of his urge, take away his car keys so he cannot drive the car and keep him in the house, by force if necessary.

He may put up a protest and make it difficult for you but, knowing how much is at stake, you should be willing to make any sacrifice. When he is at home, you can also have some control over the amount of whiskey he drinks.

Talk to your doctor about this matter and see if he has any suggestions that may help your husband to cure this drink urge. If he feels that your husband would profit by joining Alcoholics Anonymous, ask him to talk to your husband about the matter and make arrangements for him to get in touch with the organization.

Because your husband is willing to promise you that he won't drink heavily any more, he is sincere in his desire to cure himself. But, the urge is stronger than his desire not to drink, and that is why he gives in to the urge. To overcome the urge, he needs professional help.

There is no question about the fact that you must treat this matter as a serious one. With four children to provide for, your husband cannot afford to lose his job or ruin the children's chances for success in your community because of his bad reputation. That is why you must act at once.

Louise LaCombe Dill Candidate For National Office

A candidate for the office of treasurer of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs is Mrs. Louise LaCombe Dill of Silver Springs, Md., former resident of Escanaba. The election will be one of the features of the biennial convention to be held this summer in Boston.

"Independent Woman," club publication, carries a picture of Mrs. Dill and the following story of her qualifications:

"The Maryland Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs is sponsoring Mrs. Louise LaCombe Dill for the office of treasurer.

"Mrs. Dill, a member of the Silver Spring Club, is employed as an economic analyst, Office of the Technical Staff, Treasury Department Federal Credit Union from 1947 to 1950."

Mrs. Dill was an organizer and charter member of the Escanaba Business and Professional Woman's club and she was its secretary-treasurer before she left Escanaba to live in the east.

Dates of the national convention are June 29 to July 4.

Youth Can Find Way To Beauty

By ALICIA HART NEA Beauty Editor

If you teen-agers are going through what is commonly referred to as "the awkward age," don't despair. There are solutions to your problem, and happily enough, they are pleasant ones.

Learn how to dance first. You'll be surprised to find what it will do for your social standing and your posture. Dancing will give you new ideas about what to do with your hands and feet. You may discover, through dancing, how to relax.

To help your poise and grace, indulge in some sports. Bowling is excellent as an overall exercise, and will improve your posture. Play some tennis and go swimming whenever you have the opportunity. Both will make a difference in your physical stature.

Make yourself stand up before your class when you are called on for a recitation. You can only learn to be self-assured by practicing. Don't be afraid to make mistakes.

It is not as though you were talking to an adult group. Everyone in your class is the same age, and they all have the same fears and apprehensions.

Get into the habit of holding yourself straight when you are waiting for a bus or standing in a crowd. Slumping into a seat isn't half as comfortable as you may think. It not only ruins your posture, but you're sure to have a cramp in your back before many minutes have passed.

And the nicest thing about being a teen-ager is that you will be grown-up and poised when you least expect to be.

Charge Road Board Discriminated In Recent Truck Deal

Meeting yesterday afternoon in the conference room of the First National Bank, the Schoolcraft County division of the Delta-Schoolcraft Automobile Dealers Association charged that the Schoolcraft County Road Commission discriminated against local auto dealers in the recent purchase bid.

Bids on the equipment were opened at a meeting of the road commission on Feb. 26 and awarded to the Marquette dealer on Feb. 29, local dealers said.

"Schoolcraft County auto dealers spend between $150,000 and $200,000 annually in local payrolls, pay substantial taxes on business places and homes, and, we believe, should be entitled to at least an even break on the sale of trucking equipment to the road commission," the five dealers at the meeting said.

They stated that the total amount of the truck and dump box purchase was about $17,000.

"We would like to know why the road commissioners would rather purchase this equipment out of the county, even if they pay about $4,000 more than the lowest local bid," the dealers declared.

Doctor Paces Dock As Bride Returns From Duty In Japan

SEATTLE—(AP)—An Indianapolis doctor and his bride reversed the usual dockside reception routine as the military transport La Guardia arrived from the Far East.

This time the husband, Dr. Charles Williams, waited on the dock for his wife.

Mrs. Williams returned from 14 months of navy nursing duty in Japan.

The couple met originally in an Indianapolis hospital. She later went to Japan. The doctor flew there last October and married her. Then he returned to await her discharge from the hospital.

Dr. Williams paced the dock as nervously as the wife of any returning Korean war veteran. When a delay in getting off the baggage to remain aboard, he shouted:

"To hell with the baggage! Let it go back to Japan for all I care!"

Defer Action On Youth Program

Action on a proposed youth program was deferred by Manistique Lodge No. 632, B. P. O. E., at its regular meeting Wednesday night.

The proposal is expected to be taken up again at a special Elks session scheduled for next Wednesday, March 12, or at a succeeding regular monthly meeting.

The program, submitted by the lodge's youth committee, recommended a variety of activities, including a May Day program and parade, in conformity with suggested youth action by the Grand Lodge.

Acceptance of a nominating committee report was deferred because it did not provide for filling one vacancy. A revised report is to be submitted at a special lodge session next Wednesday.

Two candidates, Troopers Marvin Anderson and William Scales, of the Michigan state police, were initiated in a ceremony conducted by a degree team from the Germfask Elks lodge.

Lunch was served at the conclusion of the meeting.

In This Corner

With Ray Crandall

A second member of the coaching staff at Powers-Spalding High School has resigned from the faculty . . . Zig Sheksy, who coached basketball at Powers for the past four years and is currently baseball coach, submitted his resignation Wednesday . . . No reason was given by Sheksy who was succeeded as cage coach this season by Irving Soderlund . . . Jerry Anzalone, grid coach, resigned several weeks ago.

There will be no reserved seats at either of the district basketball tournaments at Norway and Menominee . . . Seats will be available on a first-come, first-served basis and all will be general admission . . . It would seem that some better arrangement could be made to accommodate out of town fans who may find it difficult to be at the high school gyms much in advance of game time . . . Particularly for the finals when a large crowd may well be expected.

When Bessemer bumped favored Ironwood St. Ambrose from the Class C district tournament at Bessemer Wednesday night it snapped a six-game win streak for the Saints . . . Bessemer entered the tournament with a mediocre record of five wins, 10 losses . . . St. Ambrose and Bessemer did not meet in regular season play.

As far as we know an Upper Peninsula athlete has never before been named to an all-state high school football team and an all-state high school basketball team . . . St. Joe's versatile Pete Kuches added that laurel to his already long list of athletic honors when he made the Detroit Free Press all-state quint this week . . . Pete was an all-state class C back last football season . . . Ishpeming's Terry Thompson was one of the few repeaters on the all-state selections for 1952.

Escanaba And St. Joe Enter Tourney Action On Two Fronts Tonight

The tournament trail opens tonight for Escanaba's two high school cage quints.

The Escanaba Eskimos enter Class B play in the district meet at Menominee and the St. Joe Trojans take off after district honors at Norway.

Both tournaments involve four teams and in both meets finals will be decided tomorrow night.

Trojans Favored

Coach Tom St. Germain's Trojans are heavily favored to advance tonight over the Bark River-Harris Broncos coached by Paul Winikainen. St. Joe has two previous decisions over Bark River in regular season play, both by wide margins.

St. Joe opens the tourney action at Norway tonight at 7 (CST) which is 8 o'clock Escanaba time. In the windup Coach Allan Ronberg's Norway Vikings tackle Baraga of Marquette. The second game is at 8:30 (CST).

The Eskimos also open the B tourney at Menominee tonight. They will face the Stephenson Eagles at 7 (CST) or 8 Escanaba time. In the second game the Gladstone Braves clash with the host Menominee quint at 8:30 (CST).

Bessemer Ousts Stambaugh '5'

MARQUETTE, Mich.—For the second time in as many nights, Bessemer High School provided the major upset of this week's Upper Peninsula district basketball tournaments.

The Speed Boys, who drove Ironwood St. Ambrose out of the Class C meet at Bessemer Wednesday, last night defeated Stambaugh, Menominee Range champion, 41-40 in an overtime game. They rest tonight, meeting the winner of the Wakefield-Crystal Falls contest Saturday night.

A mild upset occurred in the Class D tournament at Houghton, where Laurium Sacred Heart won from Chassell, 45-30.

Elsewhere, things went about as scheduled. Mass, the Peninsula's No. 1 scoring power, ran over Berglund, 81-41, while Vulcan, another Class D powerhouse, beat Rock, 69-46. Brimley defeated a weak Hubert quint by a 73-18 margin.

Tourney results:

At Houghton
Laurium Sacred Heart 45 Chassell 30

Mass 81, Berglund 41
Lake Linden 50, Painesdale 28

Coach Steve Baltic's Eskys enter the tournament with a 7-7 season record. Escanaba and Stephenson have already met twice this season. Stephenson won the first game 45-43 in double overtime at Stephenson. Escanaba gained revenge with a 62-34 win here in the second meeting.

Baker To Start
Coach St. Germain will also use his regular starting five with Bill Baker and Dick Cass at forwards, Pete Kuches at center, John Martinec and Bob Sendenburgh at guards. Reserves will be Jim Graden and Fred Boddy at guards.

Reserve strength will be available from Tom Smith, Jojo Johnston, George Bartley, Francis Artley, Con Michael, Bill LeMire and Pat McDonough. McDonough was moved up from the Eskymo Bee team this week.

Rolfe Pleased With Heavy Hitting Of Detroit Tigers

LAKELAND, Fla. — (AP) — Manager Red Rolfe looked at a scorebook that showed five home runs and five doubles off the bats of his Detroit Tiger athletes.

"Boy, that's the kind of hitting we can use all the time," he said, well-pleased with yesterday's first intrasquad game.

But Red had another reason for being pleased.

Phillips doesn't expect to beat out George Kell at third. But somebody else on the club may have to move over for this 22-year-old speedster who seems to be able to do everything.

"I don't care what position I play as long as I get to play," said John, also known as Bubber. He's nearly completed his work for a master's degree in health and physical education.

Hoot Homers

Outfielder Hoot Evers, slumped over last year, started off right. He homered over the left field wall. Catcher Joe Ginsberg and Kell also homered.

Rolfe planned another intrasquad game today. The Tigers open their exhibition season against the Philadelphia Phillies tomorrow at Clearwater.

Jerry Priddy, second baseman who ended his holdout yesterday, struck out swinging as a pinch hitter a few moments after he donned a uniform for the first time.

There was one casualty, Russ Sullivan. The power-hitting rookie outfielder pulled a muscle running to first.

Of the pitchers, rookie Ernie Funk and veteran Marlin Stuart of the Lyons team each pitched shutout ball for three innings.

"Stuart was in mid-season form and had great stuff," said catcher Matt Batts. Hal White, the third Lyons pitcher, gave up all four runs and five of the nine hits.

Fred Hutchinson started for the Bartells and was touched for two homers with nobody aboard. Rookie Al Yayaian gave up three successive hits for two runs in the fourth inning but retired the next seven batters. Rookie Dick Marlowe allowed a home run with bases empty. In all, they allowed nine hits.

Vic Wertz played both right field and first base and singled once. Cliff Mapes, playing only in the outfield, struck out twice in a row and went hitless.

Johnny Groth, Frank House, Phillips, Ginsberg and Ben Taylor slashed doubles, Phillips and Kell made bad errors for errors, Sullivan let a single bound through him to advance the runner and Taylor dropped a throw to first.

Six of 16 pitchers and 21 of the 23 other players got into the game.

Shoot For 300 Feet At Pine Mountain

IRON MOUNTAIN, Mich.—That elusive 300-foot ski leap the midwest has been waiting for may be produced here Saturday and Sunday when America's biggest ski-jumping double-header will be staged on giant Pine Mountain.

Upwards of 25,000 distance-crazy spectators are expected to be congregated at the foot of the world's highest artificial scaffold to see United States' 90 most talented daredevils in action.

The star-studded field, including 30 class A artists, will have their sights set on the 300-foot mark and the midwest's first jumping "touchdown." The hill record here is 297 feet.

Aim At Record

Not only the hill record will go on the block, but if wind and snow conditions are ideal, the 316-foot North American record may be shattered. The record was established last year at Steamboat Springs, Colorado.

Three national champions head the entry list. They are: Clarence Hill, of Ishpeming, Michigan, class A; his cousin, Earl Hill of Detroit, class B, and Joe Beaulieu of Eau Claire, Wisconsin class C. Clarence Hill, along with Sig Malvik of Chicago and Paul Jacobs, of Iron Mountain, second third place winners in the nationals, were elevated to class A this week.

The star-studded field, including 30 class A artists, will have their sights set on the 300-foot mark and the midwest's first jumping "touchdown." The hill record here is 297 feet.

Seventeen cities and five states are represented in the entry list. The only easterner is Roy Sherman, of Salisbury, Conn., talented class A performer.

The only foreigner is Karl Martitsch, who was a member of Austria's 1948 Olympic team and 1950 FIS team.

YOGI OVERWEIGHT

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — (AP) — Catcher Yogi Berra of the New York Yankees insists he's in shape although the tips the scales at 196, about ten above his playing weight.

Berra, named the Yanks' cleanup hitter yesterday, believes he will shed the excess during the season but Manager Casey Stengel is going to use Yogi in most of the exhibition games to bring down Berra's weight.

PHOENIX, Ariz. — (AP) — Second string catcher Sal Yvars of the New York Giants is having a tough time.

Yvars has a blood clot in his right shoulder as a result of being struck by a foul ball. The previous day he was struck on the head by a swinging bat and has a lump on his shoulder.

That leaves Frank Smith as the No. 1 reliever and from there on it figures to be a fight among Niles Jordan, Eddie Kraut, Bud Byrly, Bill Bevens and Eddie Blake.

MIX 'EM UP

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — Manager Eddie Stanky has mixed veterans and recruits in the lineup for his first exhibition tomorrow against the New York Yankees.

Neither Stanky nor Red Schoendienst are listed for second base. Earl Weaver will hold down the keystone sack.

Weaver will also lead off and be followed by Solly Hemus, shortstop; Stan Musial, left field; Wally Westlake, center; Steve Bilko, first base; Herb Gorman, right; Eddie Kazak, third, and les Fusselman, catcher.

HARRIS GAMBLE

BRADENTON, Fla. — Ernie Johnson of Bradenton, Fla., considered the best pitcher in the minors last season, was on the Boston Braves' casualty list today with a sore arm.

Johnson's record with Milwaukee in the American Association in 1951 was 15-4 and he chalked up five straight wins in the playoffs and Little World Series.

SIMPSON REBOUNDS

TUCSON, Ariz. — (AP) — M. A. Lopez, Cleveland Manager Al Lopez was a little hasty in saying outfielder Harry Simpson was looking bad. Just a day after he said that,

Illini, Michigan Favored In Track

CHAMPAIGN, Ill.—(AP) — Illinois and Michigan were favored to fight it out for the championship in the 42nd annual Big Ten indoor track and field meet opening tonight.

Illinois, the defending champion, isn't rated quite as strong this season as last and Michigan is favored to take the meet by a close margin.

Preliminaries will be held tonight and the finals tomorrow.

The Illini and the Wolverines have dominated the conference track picture for years. Michigan has won the crown 15 times, the Illini 12.

This year the Wolverines have such stars as Don McEwen, a safe bet to repeat as two mile champion; miler John Ross; quarter-miler Jack Carroll; hurdler Van Bruner, and shot putter Fritz Nilsson.

The Illini have returning title-holders in Cirilo McSween in the 440, Joe Gonzalez in the 60 yard dash and Tom Floyd in the high jump.

The other Big Ten teams will be willing to settle for berths in the first division.

Kurt Krieger, rookie righthander for the St. Louis Cardinals, was born in Trasen, Austria.

Wall Street

By RADAR WINGET

NEW YORK — (AP) — The stock market was mixed today with rails and selected oils on the upside.

Gains and losses extended to between 1 and 2 points either way with some pushing past the upper limits.

Amerada Petroleum, which shot up 8 points yesterday, was up today between 3 and 4 points. Atlantic Coast Line Railroad, up 5 1/2 yesterday, was ahead around a point in early trading today.

American & Foreign Power was fractionally ahead and traded in one block of 20,000 shares up 1/4 at 12 3/8. It closed at 11 on Tuesday, the day it was admitted to trading.

The golds, in demand yesterday, were largely neglected today and moved in a narrowly mixed range.

St. Regis Paper was up fractionally. It reported the largest profits and sales in its history last year.

The market this week has held to the higher side with a big forward push Tuesday, the best advance in eight months. Yesterday's market, although showing gains in the averages, was mixed with only the rails and a few oils bolstering the list.

Corporate Bonds were unchanged to a bit higher at the start.

Truman's Plea Fails To Check Congressmen In Foreign Aid Slash

kenlooper said. "Meanwhile the evidence of waste and corruption in public funds and contracts is growing."

In For A Fight

Two Democrats on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, McMahon of Connecticut and Green of Rhode Island, applauded the Truman appeals but, in separate interviews, agreed they face a stiff fight this year.

"We may spend the money in foreign lands but we're spending it for our own security," McMahon said. "It's politically unpopular to claim otherwise and, this being an election year, we'll have to fight it out with the full vigor that a great cause demands."

"I think it's a very well thought-out program," Green said. "I may question some details but I

Outlook Bright For Auto Jobs

DETROIT — (AP) — The Motor City's spring employment picture looked bright today with a slight easing by the government of curbs on auto production.

The Defense Production Administration announced yesterday the ceiling on passenger car production in the April-May-June quarter had been raised to 1,050,000. The quota previously announced was 930,000.

The truck quota was raised from 225,000 to 250,000 for the same period.

Allocations in the first quarter are designed to permit production of 1,006,000 passenger cars and 220,000 trucks.

Allocations of scarce metals for the second quarter are actually designed to produce one million cars. But a spokesman for DPA said it will have no objection if the industry squeezes out an extra 50,000.

Walter P. Reuther, president of the CIO United Auto Workers, said the quota increase is "the most hopeful development that Detroit and other communities affected by serious unemployment have received."

Briefly Told

Report Cards — E. E. Edick, principal of the Escanaba senior high school, has announced that report cards for all 10th, 11th and 12th grade students were issued today to the students.

Naturalization Begun

A petition for naturalization was filed this morning by Anna Ohlen of Route One, Rapid River with Department of Justice examining official Francis M. Reed, Sault Ste. Marie, at the office of the county clerk. Reed was in Escanaba to assist persons in immigration and naturalization matters.

Obituary

MRS. C. H. BONEFIELD

Services for Mrs. Christian H. Bonefield will be held Sunday at 2 p. m. at Trinity Lutheran church, Stonington with the Rev. Johannes Ringstad officiating.

Burial will be in Stonington Cemetery. Friends may call at the Anderson funeral home beginning today and at Trinity church from 1 p. m. Sunday.

Painter Hacks Wife And Two Daughters, Then Kills Himself

RICHMOND, Calif. — (AP) — A 50-year-old painter, who had talked of needing a psychiatrist, hacked his wife and two daughters with a claw hammer, then killed himself today.

The President said the power of Communism in the western European countries has declined. It remains a threat in France and Italy, although its power has been "very substantially reduced" in those countries during the past five years.

The danger of runaway inflation in Europe has been brought under control, he said.

Truman renewed his appeal for continued American support of efforts to increase the living standards of underdeveloped peoples in the Near East and Africa as the best means of gaining stability and fighting Communism.

Executive Plunges 7 Floors To Death At Detroit Hotel

DETROIT — (AP) — Ralph B. Forsythe, 55, paper company executive, plunged seven floors to his death at the Whittier hotel some time during the night.

A taxicab driver saw the body lying on a second floor ledge of the hotel at daylight today.

Police said that Forsythe, an official of the Butler Paper Co. here, had jumped or fallen from a ninth floor corridor window.

The window is 100 feet from the room which Forsythe occupied. He had lived in the hotel for 15 years.

Forsythe's body was clad only in underclothing. The bed in his room was rumpled. No note was found.

Japan Jolted Again By New Earthquakes

TOKYO — (AP) — Two earthquakes shook central Japan today, disrupting traffic and communications and starting landslides.

The quake was felt over a distance of more than 350 miles — from Tokyo and Yokohama southwest to Okayama.

Davis quoted the neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Falchetto, as saying Nelson spoke of needing psychiatric treatment only a few days ago.

Truman Takes Off For Another Siesta

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman set off for a Florida vacation today, his 11th there since taking office.

The presidential plane, the Independence, took off from National Airport shortly after noon.

Mr. Truman will spend his three-week vacation at Key West.

Killed By Train

PONTIAC — (AP) — A speeding passenger train crashed into an automobile at a crossing 15 miles northwest of here last night, killing Glen A. Harrington, 18, of Davisburg. Wreckage of Harrington's car was scattered 160 feet along the tracks at the Clark road crossing in Springfield township.
